Re: Appreciation of Solar lighting set donation to Rumginae Rural Hospital maternity ward

The solar lighting system for the maternity wing of the Rumginae Rural Hospital was being donated marked by a formal handing over and brief run through of the system and usage on the 30th November 2022. The equipment was well received by the management and the staff of the hospital.

The hospital management and the staff are so humbled by the kind gesture which has provided a quick fix to chronic lighting issues in the hospital. The management also extends its gratitude and appreciation to those who have seen the need and provided the equipment which is sustainable and user friendly for the rural hospital.

As a brief overview, Rumginae rural hospital under the Evangelical Church of Papua New Guinea (ECPNG) Health Service, supervises five health sub centres and ten aidposts which are distributed in the North and Middle Fly Districts of Western Province. Most facilities are in the remote areas of the districts where power and proper lighting are obviously lacking. Solar energy for lighting and other solar powered needs for rural health facilities is a way forward in improving the quality of health care provided given its convenience and sustainability. The health service obviously need such support through partners and donor agencies so such initiatives can be extended to other rural health facilities.

Above all, the ECPNG health service is grateful for the kind gesture and other support provided through programs by ADI and other partners and wish to extend its gratitude to the donors whose gesture is so beneficial to the health service.

Thank you and God bless you all
